

Featured products list

/ Getting started

In this article, you will learn about the featured products list. Featured products list functionality allows displaying new, selected, or Exponea products in the respective tabs on the home page of the website below the slider (1). This block is responsive, so products will be correctly visible both on desktop and mobile devices without additional input.

Featured products need to be activated in the desired altshop in order to be visible on the website. You can find more about activating featured products in the Featured products / list - browsing and managing featured products in altshop module article.
